Amendment Notice Health & Social Care Workforce Census March 2009

Section 11 of this publication, UK Comparisons of Allied Health Professionals, has been removed.

Allied Health Profession services are organised differently across each of the UK countries such that it is not strictly meaningful to compare those employed within the Health sector alone. More work needs to be undertaken to promote comparability within the UK before statistics for each administration can be compared. For this reason the UK comparison chapter in the HSC Workforce Census March 2009 has been removed. The information that was contained in the UK comparisons chapter should therefore not be used to make comparisons and draw conclusions about the relative size and composition of the workforce across the UK countries

We apologise for any inconvenience caused.
