Supporting resource CM/09: Statement of participation in the campaign

[Insert trust name] is proud to be part of the cleanyourhands campaign. Hands are one of the main ways that germs are transferred so if healthcare workers clean their hands before and after every patient contact then we can prevent the spread of infection and help tackle healthcare associated infection. Therefore, we are making it a priority to improve the hand hygiene of our staff.

The cleanyourhands campaign logo and materials are used with the permission of the National Patient Safety Agency.
